

A DISHONEST SURVEY.

As stated in a communication from Gold Hill, Nevada, published last week, arrangements are being made to re-survey the boundary line between California and Nevada. Professor Davidson of the Coast and geodetic survey, is preparing to run the line from Lake Tahoe to the Needles. The present Von Schmidt survey places the angle of the boundary lines on the East shore of the Lake, instead of within it, and it is possible that the new survey will take a small slice off four counties in Nevada. As stated before, too much interest cannot be taken in this matter by the citizens of the State, for, as can be seen by the records, it is not long since a line was run necessitating considerable expense and labor, and from what we have learned it would not be too broad to assert that the scheme is being worked for private interests, which will prove detrimental to the citizens of the State of Nevada, and should any action be taken which would seem or appear in the least contrary to justice and the wishes of the people, a protest should be made by the citizens of the whole State.

California with its millions of wealth and territory, is not content with sucking the orange, but wants the peeling, and will finally convert the core to its own selfish possessions.

—Pioche Lode.

What Might Have Been.

It now transpires that Squire Abington left his millions to his mother and done to Mrs. Langtry. It must have given the Jersey Lily a feeling of keen chagrin to learn the contents of the document, for the Squire had promised her a million in his will. But these English sporting men are very uncertain. It seems to the writer that she would have been lots better off had she taken his advice years ago when she bought 40 acres of land in Carson. Had she done this she would have settled down in the finest climate on earth, married some good thrifty farmer and gone to raising potatoes and babies.

Think where she would have been this Spring when spuds touched $35 a ton, had she taken our advice, in addition to which her kids could have taken the measles, in a mild form, from ours.

Water came down early from Lakeview this year and Schulz, Brannan, Rafetto and Sweeny didn't mix up in the annual water suit with the Holstein ranch. This would have given Mrs. Langtry an early start on her adjoining 40 acres, and with eggs in big demand, at 40 cents, her hens would have been a joy and delight to her. It always seemed to us like a golden opportunity thrown away when he neglected to improve that 40 acres of sage brush property, a proceeding that would have landed her right into the hearts of the people and the agricultural district.

She couldn't lose running a ranch only two miles from an Opera House for when eggs fell to 15 cents and potatoes were only $16 a ton, she could easily drop the hoe, hire the Opera House and turn loose, and take a fall out of the box office with "Lena Despard" or "Galatea."

But the best of people and the longest headed people make mistakes and we have no word of censure for her or anybody else who has a chance to mangle Nevada soil and don't.

There is still a chance for her to come back where the sun shines over 300 days in the year and the stars that stud the silent sky look down on cool nights, balmy dawns and not a mosquito for 100 miles either way. There is still time for her to come back and tackle the crop proposition. If she is short of agricultural implements she can borrow our hoes, rakes, shovels and plows, and no kick made if they come back broken.

The District Attorney has opened his campaign in grand shape against the raids of illegal contractors on the County Treasury. When the Grand Jury meets there is more to do in the matter. Steps should be taken to exact the penalty provided by law, and one of them is the forfeiture of office. If they will take the APPEAL's advice instead of listening to his lawyers, he will resign his office at an early date.

The Silver party of Ormsby has carried out its pledges to the people last fall in the matter of backing up the fraudulent contract system.
